CANNERY OPENS
TO PUT UP CROP
OF RELIEF FARM

Beans From Dixon Township Relief Gardens Preserved

Canning of the products of the Dixon Township Welfare gardens and the farm south of the city started this morning at the old Dunbar Community Center building on Depot ave., the use of which has been donated by Mr. and Mrs. John G. Ralston, and a force of men and women who have benefited through the relief commission, under the direction of Harold Richardson, of Ashton, an experienced canner is now at work putting up hundreds of bushels of string beans.

An exceptionally fine canning plant has been installed through donations of Dixonites and contracts let under the approval of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, which has authorized the expenditure of $8,000 for the purpose of each acre of relief gardens cultivated in the township this year, the expenditure to include leasing of needed equipment, purchase of the tin cans, the salary of the supervisor and necessary contract labor in preparing the canneries. Labor in the field and in the institution is donated by those who have been benefitted by the relief agency.

Completely Equipped
The beans, brought in from the fields, are first thoroughly washed and snapped by a force of women, after which they go to the conditioning tables where they are thoroughly inspected. They are then blanched and placed in the cans, after which the beans are added, the cover is automatically sealed on and the canned products are placed in steam retorts where they are cooked in live steam for the specified time, various products requiring different times for cooking.

As the canning of the beans progresses the product of a large orchard of apple trees will also be put up, the apples requiring an especially enameled can.

Following the beans and apples will come tomatoes, the corn, and the later crops, it being estimated the canneries will be kept busy for about sixty days.

Steam for the equipment is provided by the Dixon township steam roller, donated by Commissioner of Highways James Devine, who is also furnishing a man to fire the boiler. Several steam control valves utilized in the system were donated by the Oats Products Corp.

Rev. Barnett Sends
Word of Sad Death
Of Their Daughter

A message received Sunday from Rev. James A. Barnett, pastor of the Christian church of this city, announced the passing of their only daughter, Mrs. Don Butcher, whose death occurred at 12 o'clock Sunday at a hospital at Norfolk, Va. Funeral services will be held Friday morning at Clinton, Ill., former home of the Barnett family. Mrs. Butcher was the only child of Rev. and Mrs. Barnett and her passing is a crushing blow to them. The sincere sympathy of Rev. Barnett's congregation and their many friends in Dixon is extended to them in their sad bereavement. Rev. and Mrs. Barnett expect to return to Dixon Saturday and a complete obituary will be published later.

Await Hearing In County Court: Accident On Lincolnway, West

BULLETIN

Paul W. Dutcher of Rochelle pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition when arrested before Judge Leech in the county court today on an information filed by Sheriff Fred Richardson. Dutcher was sentenced to serve 60 days at the state work farm at Vandalia and was fined $200 and costs. The court ordered that failure to pay the fine and costs would result in Dutcher's working out the amount at hard labor at the farm at a rate of $1.50 per day, which is provided under a new law.

Paul W. Dutcher, alias John Erwin, aged 26, and Sidney Clark alias Sam Daniels, aged 25, both of Rochelle, inadvertently chose the county jail property for the scene of what might easily have been a serious automobile accident Saturday evening about 6:30 and as a result both are held at the county jail and an information will be filed by Sheriff Fred Richardson in the county court today charging Dutcher with the operation of a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition. Dutcher and Clark were both placed under arrest by Sheriff Richardson following the crash.

Miss Pauline Adams was driving east on Third street and was the victim of the accident. Dutcher, who was driving south on Hennepin avenue and was said to have been driving at a 50 mile an hour rate after striking another car near First street and Hennepin avenue, did not slacken his speed when he approached Third street, it was alleged. Miss Adams was approaching the intersection and only her presence of mind prevented a much more serious accident. When she observed the speeding roadster (Continued on Page 5)

Woman Who Aided In Solving Kidnaping Apparent Target

Denver, Colo., July 31—(AP)—Police investigation of the mysterious hail of bullets into the home of Mrs. Frances Ellsworth, a housewife, who aided in the solution of the Charles Boettcher kidnaping case, ran into a blank wall today.

Mrs. Ellsworth, and her husband, W. B. Ellsworth, narrowly escaped from a fusillade of slugs fired at their home late Saturday night by unknown assailants.

Acting Captain of Detectives Charles Burns said he had virtually abandoned a theory that the bullets might have been fired by either Verne Sankey or Gordon Alcorn, fugitives who were indicted for a kidnaping of the wealthy Denver broker, or by any of their relatives or henchmen.

"I can't reconcile myself to the belief that any of the Sankey gang would face the danger of coming back here for the purpose of trying to 'get' Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth," Burns said.

He said the police had no clues to work on in efforts to learn the identity of the persons who fired the shots.

SEC. OF LABOR
DOES NOT LIKE
CODES FOR STEEL

Says Proposals Made By Industry Won't Meet Approval

Washington, July 31—(AP)—The "company union," perennial source of conflict between organized labor and the great steel makers, was eliminated today from the code proposed by that industry at the instance of Hugh E. Johnson, the recovery administrator, but the manufacturers served emphatic notice that they will make every effort to continue this method of dealing with their employees.

Hardly had hearings begun in a hall packed with perspiring spectators than Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce under President Hoover and now president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, announced that the industry was ready to eliminate the much-disputed section designed for perpetuation of the company union.

"While it is probably a border line case, it seems to me that that matter is inappropriate in that particular section of this code, which contains the mandatory provisions of the recovery law," Johnson had said as he sprawled in a huge leather-cushioned chair.

Lamont stood close by, tall, erect and florid.

"I believe the section can be omitted from the code without materially altering it," Lamont said. "I am willing to recommend that it be omitted and I believe that the industry will adopt my recommendation."

"It should be distinctly understood however, that the omission of the section does not imply any change in the attitude of the industry on the two points therein referred to; that the industry believes that the employee representation plans now in effect at its plants are desired by its employees; that the members of the industry will naturally do everything in their power to preserve the satisfactory relationships now existing with their employees; and that the section will be omitted for the sole purpose of avoiding the necessity of considering at this hearing any questions that are not fundamental to the code."

This action brought congratulations from Secretary Frances Perkins and eliminated one of the biggest blocks from the path of agreement.

Miss Perkins promptly and energetically launched opposition to other features she regarded as objectionable—those dealing with hours and wages.

Washington, July 31—(AP)—Secretary Perkins today told the steel industry the working hours it proposes are too long and the wages too low to accomplish the recovery act's "broad purpose" of re-employment and wide-spread purchasing power.

Appearing at the opening session of hearings on the code, fixing pay and hours for the industry, the woman cabinet officer asserted it did not make adequate provision for the abolishment of child labor and severely criticized the proposed method of apportioning zones.

Instead of numerous wage zones with differing hourly rates, ranging from 25 cents in the south to 40 cents in highly industrialized areas, she proposed that the number of such zones with a differential be determined by a thorough study of living costs.

In view of the privileges and the freedom granted to the industry by the government to combine for the purpose of eliminating evils that beset the industry," she said, "it is disappointing to find that in framing section 3 of the proposed code the industry did not rise to the opportunity of ruling out the seven day week from the steel industry, the twelve hour day and all unduly long working hours."

"It is not my purpose to suggest the exact number of hours that the industry ought to set as the maximum x x x the hours per week and per day ought to be will have to be determined by the number of iron and steel workers now unemployed that have to be reabsorbed, x x x and to a certain extent by the technical processes of the industry x x x."

"Thirty six hours per week which is six hours a day for six days, or thirty hours, which is six hours a day for five days, offer interesting opportunities for reemployment of large numbers of persons x x x."

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, demanded that the steel industry cut its work week to 30 hours, with a sixty cent minimum rate per hour under a guaranteed minimum weekly wage of $18.

Green submitted a draft of an entire new section for the proposed steel code to replace the labor terms proposed by the industry. His plan was that workers receiving more than the minimum rate shall in future be paid approximately 70 per cent of the weekly compensation prevailing in 1929, and in no case less per week than is received now.

Green suggested that there be established an advisory council over industrial relations in the iron and steel industry, its members to be selected by President Roosevelt.

Emergency Code For Retail Industry Was Being Written Today

Smaller Stores Find It
Unable To Cut To 40 Hours

BULLETIN

The Retail Merchants Division of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce, believing that the purpose of the National Recovery Act is to provide more employment and more buying power will not shorten their store hours. Following conferences today the division issued the following statement:

"We believe that shortening the store hours in the Act will not help unemployment and will decrease the purpose of the Act. All our employees will work only the 40 hours as provided for in the Act, and in order to give our customers our same satisfactory service, we will hire extra help for such times as are needed."

"Therefore, the stores will observe the same opening and closing hours as they have in the past, until further notice."

Washington, July 31—(AP)—Officials of the recovery administration today were whipping together a final draft of a code for the retail industry, under which merchants would operate pending its formal consideration and approval, instead of under President Roosevelt's blanket wage and hour agreement.

A premature announcement was given today that all retail stores would be permitted a 48 hour week instead of the 40 hour week specified in the President's agreement.

Later however, A. D. Whiteside, a Deputy Administrator, said it had not been determined whether this would affect all stores or only those in the smaller cities.

These smaller stores have contended that since they are now working some 60 to 80 hours, cutting to 40 would be financially impossible.

Is Not Exemption
Meanwhile, Hugh S. Johnson, Chief Administrator, said the plan to permit the retailers to operate temporarily under their own code and use the official "blue eagle" insignia was not an exemption from the President's agreement, but was fulfilling the intent of the agreement to speed up the submission of codes.

Johnson emphasized there would be no big group exemption of any kind.

Spokesmen for the smaller stores had contended that they were financially unable to carry through terms of the proposed general agreement.

The authorization for the retailers to operate under their tentative code was taken under the provision of the President's agreement providing that it should be effective only until more permanent codes were adopted.

Drafting of the code was started late last night after a series of conferences between Johnson and representatives of the industry and labor.

Accept Wage Limit
The representatives of the merchants accepted the minimum wage scale of $12 to $15 a week provided in the agreement with the President.

It is expected a number of other industries, in presenting their codes for approval, would ask permission to operate under their temporarily instead of the President's agreement.

Johnson said no modification of the President's general agreement was involved in the action, adding, "This agreement by the President was proposed as a lever for speeding up the presentation of codes," Johnson said, "and as a result the retailers have come forward with their code days before we expected it."

CHIEF GETS REPORTS

Hyde Park, N. Y., July 31—(AP)—The National Recovery campaign occupied first place in Roosevelt's thoughts today as he started work at the summer White House.

Surrounded by the bustle of farm work on his ancestral acres, the President gave every indication that this visit to his home is to be no vacation.

Reports from Washington came thick and fast—chief among them being messages telling of the progress of the drive to increase the people's buying power. Soon the President is expected to receive codes prescribing shorter hours and minimum wages for particular industries, shipbuilding among the issues.

Soon also there will be a visit from Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chief of the United States delegation to the London economic conference.

Cooler Breezes
Promised Tonight
By Weather Bureau

BULLETIN

Chicago, July 31—(AP)—Cooling breezes were promised by the weatherman today to drive out the scorching heat wave that held Chicago and vicinity in its grip over the week-end when thermometers rose to readings of 94.

Four deaths were reported yesterday as thousands flocked to the beaches of Lake Michigan and smaller lakes and streams to escape the blistering temperatures.

Forecaster W. P. Day of the local Weather Bureau said the relief might arrive by tonight accompanied by showers.

The torrid blasts were not confined to the middle west as Albany, N. Y., reported a temperature of 100 degrees and at Phoenix, Ariz. it was 106 for the highest reading of the day. It was 102 at Huron, S. D. and 100 at Minneapolis. Temperatures in the 90's were common.

Three New Cases
In Police Courts
Of City This Morn

Richard Sarver of this city was arrested Saturday night by the police and when taken before Justice J. O. Shaull, a charge of disorderly conduct was preferred by Epp Madden, with whom Sarver had been rooming. Madden charged that Sarver had fired a shot from a 25 caliber automatic revolver at his home during the evening. Sarver then swore out a warrant against Madden charging that he had been threatened with a club which Madden wielded. The hearings were continued until Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Ivan Nehring of this city was assessed a fine of $10 and costs by Justice Grover Gehant in police court this morning on an intoxication charge in default of which he was sent to the county jail.

Albert Coleman arrested Saturday afternoon on an intoxication charge had his hearing continued until Thursday when he will appear before Justice Shaull.

Herbst Elevator
At Franklin Was Entered In Night

The Herbst elevator at Franklin Grove was entered some time Saturday night and the offices generally ransacked. The robbery was discovered Sunday morning about 10 o'clock and was immediately reported to the sheriff's office, Deputy Ward Miller, going to Franklin Grove to investigate.

Entrance was gained by prying a screen off the office window and then forcing the lower sash. On the inside all drawers and desks were ransacked, the cash drawer being pried open. The safe, which was not locked, was also opened and ransacked but no money had been left in the office when it closed for business Saturday night. The intruders cut the wires which connected an electric radio and removed it from the building, it being the only compensation for their efforts. Burned paper matches were strewn about on the office floor indicating that the job was one of amateurs.

Dixon Business Men
To Attend Meeting

A delegation of Dixon business men is expected to go to Urbana tomorrow to attend a state conference on the National Recovery Act at the University of Illinois. Seven prominent faculty members of the University and representatives of the N. R. A. are expected to address the conference, according to a copy of the program received today by Miss Frances Patrick, Secretary of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce, which has been delegated by the Federal director to organize and direct the NRA program in Dixon.

Big San Antonio Bank Bought
Stolen Liberty Bonds Through Misunderstanding; Conservator

San Antonio, Tex., July 31—(AP)—The Commercial National Bank was placed under a conservatorship at its own request today subsequent to its purchase through misunderstanding of $500,000 in Liberty bonds stolen from the Continental Bank & Trust Company of New York.

Ernest A. Baetz, vice president, was named conservator. At the same time police forecast startling arrests in connection with the tracing of the bonds which officials said the bank bought in good faith.

Claude V. Birkhead, vice president, said the bank is in good condition and that the conservator was sought to protect the interests of all depositors.

Five $100,000 Liberty bonds, stolen from the New York bank last November 29, were traced here by operatives of insurers. Two men are held under bond in New York in connection with the theft.

YOUNG OFFICER OF NEW YORK N.
G. IS RELEASED

Freed Sunday Morning After Payment Of $40,000 Ransom

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three men whose names were kept secret were in custody in Albany, N. Y., today for questioning the kidnaping of John J. O'Connell, Jr., O'Connell, youthful member of a politically powerful Albany family, was freed Sunday after 23 days' captivity. The kidnapers were paid $40,000 ransom in marked bills.

Charles F. Urschel, millionaire oil man kidnaped by machine gunners from his Oklahoma City home on July 22, was still missing today. There was no word from his captors.

A fusillade of shots on Saturday night rattled the Denver home of W. B. Ellsworth, whose wife, Frances, supplied police with information that led to arrests in the kidnaping several months ago of Charles Boettcher, 2nd. The notorious Verne Sankey is sought as ringleader of the abduction gang.

David Kahan, once wealthy real estate dealer of Brooklyn, was missing today and relatives feared he was held by kidnapers who do not know that he is no longer well-to-do.

A survey showed that six states have increased the penalty for kidnaping to death since the abduction wave started sweeping the country.

BULLETIN

Albany, N. Y., July 31—(AP)—Three men were held today for questioning in connection with the kidnaping of John J. O'Connell, 24, National Guard Lieutenant, and nephew of Ed and Don O'Connell, Democratic leaders of Albany, as the search for the kidnapers was speeded up.

"We are questioning three men," was the curt statement of District Attorney John T. Delaney. "I cannot give you further details." One was said to be a waiter.

O'Connell, kidnaped July 7 by several men as he alighted from his automobile, was released Sunday morning after a ransom of $40,000 had been paid.

Albany, N. Y., July 31—(AP)—The story of his abduction by several men, one of whom struck him over the head as he was alighting from his automobile and being imprisoned in an apartment, shackled, handcuffed and blindfolded with only sandwiches to eat was related today by John J. O'Connell, Jr. in an interview copyrighted by the Albany Times Union.

The nephew of Albany's powerful Democratic leaders, who was released early Sunday morning in New York City after being held for ransom since July 7, said he was compelled to sign several messages to his family but had no opportunity to see any of his captors and did not believe he would be able to identify any of them.

"My feet were tied together and I was handcuffed," young O'Connell said in the interview. This (Continued on Page 10)

FLIER MATTERN

Calls His Ill-Fated Flight Feat Of Acclaim, Glory

New York, July 31—(AP)—Mayor John P. O'Brien told Jimmie Mattern today that his delayed flight around the world was an accomplishment "of great glory and acclaim."

The mayor extended the city's official welcome to the flier in the reception room of the mayorality offices. A crowd estimated at 5,000 stood in City Hall park to hear the speeches through amplifiers.

"One cannot but marvel at the youthful pluck and courage and determination which enabled you to survive this memorable flight," the mayor said. "x x x You have added another brilliant chapter to the story of aviation in this country; you have brought fresh laurels to those which have already made glorious the story of American aviation."

"Your native state, Illinois, and Texas, your adopted residence for several years, since you took up aviation, are today joining with all the states of the Union in singing your praises and commending your courage and in wishing you God-speed in your work."

Body Is Scattered All
About By Mysterious
Explosion In Car

Portersville, Pa., July 31—(AP)—Mrs. James Rubright, about 25, was blown to bits today in an explosion which ripped apart an automobile in a lonely lane three miles from Portersville.

The blast blew parts of the automobile 600 feet, shattered six windows in a farm house and was heard in Portersville. State police hurried to the scene.

Part of the woman's head was found 600 feet away in a wheat field. An arm and hand were found an equal distance in the opposite direction.

Police located the license plate of the car and found it listed under the name of James Rubright, a garage owner, or nearby Harmony.

They found his wife has been living with Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Annabel at New Castle, Mrs. Annabel said a man called for Mrs. Rubright last night and drove away with her in a car.

POLICEMAN SHOT
DEAD STOPPING
HOLDUP AT INNOfficer On Scene Of Sunday Holdup By Merest Chance

Chicago, July 31—(AP)—Police-man Louis Schuetz, 50, of Lombard, prevented the robbery of 30 guests in the Riverside Inn, but in doing so he forfeited his own life as the leader of three gunmen emptied both barrels of his shotgun into Schuetz's body.

Schuetz, with Chief of Police Hugh Caluso, had been on the trail of the bandits following reports of two previous holdups, but it was quite by chance that Schuetz happened to be in the Inn when the trio entered early yesterday, announcing their arrival with a volley of bullets fired through the door.

The search of the two officers, proving fruitless, Schuetz had gone to the place to eat. As the bandits strode boldly in he reached for his gun. The next instant he lay mortally wounded, but as the men fled he fired a parting shot at them.

Sheriff John Hesterman of DuPage county and Chief Deputy Arthur Bennett enlisted squads of police from 15 nearby towns and the entire countryside was scoured for the killers, but to no avail.

FLORIDA STORM
BLOWING ITSELF
OUT IN INLAND

Hurricane Wind Has Dropped: Damage
Is Negligible

Fort Pierce, Fla., July 31—(AP)—A tropical storm which swept into Florida from the Bahamas this week-end apparently was blowing itself out across the peninsula today with negligible damage.

The hurricane winds that lashed the islands and endangered shipping dropped to gale force as they struck the Florida east coast and, aside from sectional disruption of power and communication lines and spotted damage to citrus groves, caused comparatively little trouble.

Weather Bureau observers estimated the highest wind velocities here at Stuart, twenty miles to the south, at sixty miles an hour. A fifty-mile wind was reported in the Lake Okeechobee region where some 5,000 persons were evacuated from the east, south and west shores as a precautionary measure.

The temporary refugees were quartered at Childs in Highland County and officials said they probably would be sent back home today.

Rev. J. C. Nate Of Pulpit Fame Called

Denver, Colo. July 31—(AP)—Joseph Cookman Nate, 65, widely known Methodist Episcopal clergyman, author and educator, died of a heart attack in his home here yesterday.

Dr. Nate was born in Evanston, Ill., and attended Illinois Wesleyan, Bloomington, Ill. Later he attended Northwestern University, the University of Berlin, and the Miami University at Oxford, Ohio.

In 1893 he was admitted to the Illinois bar and practiced law in Chicago until 1899.

He was ordained a minister in the Methodist Episcopal church, and held pastorates in several Illinois churches. From 1922 until 1924 he was director of the American Foundation of the Blind.

He had made his home in Denver for the last 10 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ruth Nate; two daughters, Mrs. George W. Liljestrom of Denver and Mrs. Ronald V. Rike of Chicago, and a son, Joseph, Jr.

The body will be taken to Bloomington, Ill., for burial.

DUQUOIN CASE
PROGRESSING
VERY SLOWLYTestimony Concerning Confessions Is Conflicting

Jonesboro, Ill., July 31—(AP)—The trial of the five DuQuoin youths charged with the murder of LaVerne Miller, DuQuoin school girl, continued to progress slowly today with forty witnesses still to be heard relative to the confessions signed by four of the defendants before new evidence can be introduced.

The witnesses who testified today were the same who were heard by the court last week when the jury was excluded during arguments over the admissibility of the confessions. They repeated their testimony today before the jury.

Nine prosecution witnesses testified the confessions from Barney Bosetto, Otis Battaglia, Robert Shingleton and Emory Elbers were not obtained under duress. The defense put 31 witnesses on the stand in an effort to show the defendants were forced to sign the confessions and that some were beaten.

Sam Ferro, the fifth defendant, is alleged by the state to have fired the fatal shot on the night of April 6, as the girl studied her school lessons. Ferro has refused to make a statement of any kind since his arrest.

The courtroom was again crowded to capacity as the trial entered into its thirteenth day. Additional guards have been placed inside and outside the courtroom to prevent any possibility of the defendants escaping.

NEW DISORDERS
IN PENNA MINE
STRIKE SECTOR

Additional Troopers
May Be Ordered
Into Areas

Brownsville, Pa., July 31—(AP)—Fresh disorders broke out in the western Pennsylvania coal fields today as new walkouts pushed the number of striking miners past the 20,000 mark and brought reliable reports that additional troops may be ordered to the scene.

At the same time, Governor P. H. P. telegraphed an invitation to strike leaders and Thomas Moses, president of the H. M. C. Frick Coal Company, to meet him in Harrisburg tomorrow to effect "permanent peace" in the Fayette county coal region.

Reports that three more companies of militia may be called to augment the 325 National Guardsmen who began patrol duty today were heard after Major General Edward C. Shannon, Guard Commander, arrived for a survey of the situation.

New strikes were declared at the Nemaquin mine of the Buckeye Coal Company, where 3,000 walked out, and in Washington county where 1,600 struck. However, 475 Washington county miners returned to work after receiving wage increases.

19-Year-Old Bride
Found Dead: Shot,
Husband Is Sought

Chicago, July 31—(AP)—Mrs. Ellen Trezise, 19-year-old bride of a few months, was found shot to death today in her apartment.

Police Captain Martin J. O'Malley said neighbors informed him they saw her husband, Melvin, run from the building about the time his bride was believed to have been shot.

O'Malley said he had questioned Trezise many times recently about automobile thefts. A man who refused to give his name notified police of the shootings by telephone.

Mrs. Trezise had been shot once in the head. A pistol lay beside her, but police said other evidence convinced them she did not commit suicide.

A TOAST TO THE FLAG

HERE'S to the Red of it,—
There's not a thread of it,
No, nor a shred of it,
In all the spread of it
From foot to head,
But heroes bled for it,
Freed steel and lead for it,
Precious blood shed for it,
Bathing it Red.

Here's to the White of it,—
Thrilled by the sight of it,
Who knows the right of it,
But feels the might of it,
Through day and night?
Womanhood's care for it,
Made manhood dare for it,
Purity's prayer for it,
Keeps it so White.

Here's to the Blue of it,—
Beauteous view of it,
Heavenly hue of it,
Star-spangled dew of it,
Constant and true,
States stand supreme for it,
Diadems gleam for it,
Liberty's beam for it,
Brightens the Blue.

Here's to the Whole of it,—
Stars, stripes and pole of it,
Body and soul of it,
On to the goal of it,
Carry it through,
Home or abroad for it,
Unsheath the sword for it,
Fight in accord for it,

Historic Event Aug. 11, Century Progress

Chicago, July 31.—One of the picturesque historic events planned for the celebration of Illinois Day, Friday, August 11, at A Century of Progress—the Chicago World's Fair, will be the reunion of men and women who attended the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893.

On that day, the Association of '93ers is planning to turn the clock back forty years and transform the Fair into a spectacle, as closely as possible, resembling the 1893 World's Fair, with its leg o'mutton sleeves, pug dogs, rubber plants, high-wheeled bicycles and busies.

Among the features planned for the reunion is a trip to an 1893 Illinois Central train from the south side of Chicago to the downtown district. Only '93ers in '93 costume will be permitted to ride on this train.

There will be a parade, also in costume, down Michigan avenue to the grounds of A Century of Progress. The high spot of this Illinois Day event will be the arrival at the A & P Carnival dock of the Santa Maria, a replica of Columbus' famed flagship, which will come under its own sail from Jackson Park. ## Wide Shoulders Bear Up Bravely Wide shoulders arrive by various routes on Paris clothes. Sleeve bracelets of grey fox adorn a handsome pastel and sapphire blue velvet evening wrap (left) from Molyneux. A silver fox collar, tied with the dress fabric, adds a smart line to a one-piece dress (center) from Jenny, a black jersey with modernistic white spots. The hat, by Marie Alphonsine, is of jersey. will be headquarters of the '93ers Association for the day.

Railroads throughout the state today notified Lieutenant-Governor Thomas F. Donovan, chairman of the Illinois State Commission to A Century of Progress, that special excursion trains will take throngs to the Fair for Illinois Day, and that attractive rates will prevail.

Use Lemon Juice For Stained Nails

Careful care of your fingernails is a most important part of your beauty routine. And it's one of the things which you can do at home yourself.

You will need several for your home manicure and the widest way is to assemble everything before you start. Nail file, emery board, cuticle oil and cuticle remover, polish orange stick and nippers are the essentials.

File your nails into shape and then soak your hands for a few minutes in soapy water. When they are clean and the cuticle is completely softened use the emery board to remove any rough edges that remain. Now, push the cuticle back with an orange stick wrapped in cotton. You should be extremely careful when dealing with cuticle. Do not push it back hard enough to injure or break it.

If your nails or the cuticle has become stained treat them with a bleaching lotion or cream. Lemon juice is a fine bleach and will not injure delicate tissue.

Putting on polish is the last step. Most people use a liquid polish, but, if you still prefer the powdered kind, a buffer is another necessity.

The shade of polish is up to you. However, natural or colorless polish is in much better taste than garish reds and pinks. Almost anyone can get away with them on the beach or at a costume party—outside of that, the less conspicuous colors are preferable.

Wawokiye Club Has Picnic on Friday

The Wawokiye club held a picnic at Lowell Park Friday. There was a short business meeting in the afternoon. Everyone responded to roll call with their favorite joke.

The afternoon was spent in enjoying the park.

The club was glad to have with them for the meeting an old member from Iowa who is visiting in Dixon.

The next meeting, August 9th, will be held at Grand Detour.

ENTERTAINED AT HOTEL DIXON

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Schuler entertained with a dinner at the Hotel Dixon in honor of two very popular Dixon visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rising of Los Angeles, California.

Besides the host and hostess and honor guests there were present Mrs. J. M. Batchelder, Mrs. H. U. Bardwell and Miss Clara Given Bardwell. After dinner the party motored to the Schuler summer cottage on Rock river, and spent the afternoon.

POISE

By HELEN WELSHIMER

TODAY there is so much of blatant noise . . .
God, grant me peace, and give me inward poise.
Help me to keep a haven deep inside.
Untouched by tears, unseared by worthless pride.
Make it as calm as small towns are at dusk.
Make it as sweet as dreams kept long in musk.

TEACH me to know that even as the hills
Stand tall, serene, although the bright air fills
With chaos or brief fanfare, so may I
Be unmoved, too, and quiet—if I try!
Let my roots sink too deep for outer touch.
Then nothing, God, can hurt me—overmuch.

Burleigh Grimes Is Given Release By Manager Grimm

St. Louis, July 31.—(AP)—Burleigh Grimes, veteran spitball pitcher, has been released unconditionally by the Chicago Cubs, it was learned today.

Grimes, who was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Cubs after the 1931 season, was informed after yesterday's double header here that he was a free agent.

"I'm going out to my farm near New Haven, Mo.," Grimes said. "I don't know what I'll do as far as baseball is concerned. I think there's still a lot of winning baseball in the old arm."

It was rumored Manager Frankie Frisch would ask President Sam Breadon to add Grimes to the Cardinal staff for the remainder of this season. Grimes' brilliant and courageous hurling enabled the Cards to win the 1931 world championship. The Cards are now under the player limit.

THE PROGRESS OF REPEAL.

Tennessee's vote to repeal the 18th amendment, following similar decisions in Alabama and Arkansas, supports the claim of wet leaders that nothing now can block abandonment of the national prohibition experiment.

Prohibitionists had centered their hope of checking the ever-rising score in favor of repeal on these states, which had long been strongholds of dry sentiment. Dry forces concentrated their efforts and used their most persuasive arguments without effect.

Twenty states now have voted for repeal. Four more will vote on the question in August, six in September, one in October, and four in November. This is a total of 35. If the states in which elections are scheduled decide as did the first 20, only one more state will be needed for the two-thirds majority of 36 necessary to make repeal effective. Governors of several states are considering special sessions to arrange for action before the end of the year.

The apparent preponderance of sentiment in favor of repeal intensifies the need for speed in finally settling the question. Tactics designed to prolong prohibition through legal technicalities and obstructing free expression of opinion are distinctly out of place. They serve only to prolong a situation against which voters who have been given an opportunity have expressed dissatisfaction and resentment, and to keep obnoxious federal taxes in force.

OUR DANGEROUS KITCHENS.

The kitchen doesn't ordinarily seem like a dangerous place—except, perhaps, when a truly inept cook starts concocting indigestible dishes for defenseless diners. But figures released by the National Safety Council show that a huge number of fatal accidents take place in American kitchens every year.

The highway, of course, is the scene of more fatal accidents than any other spot. But there were 28,000 deaths last year from accidents which took place in the home, and fully 34 per cent of these occurred in kitchens.

Falls and scalds seem to be the most prolific sources of home accidents. And while it is a bit difficult to see just how a safety code can be devised and enforced for the home, a little care and forethought in the midst of the daily round of activities ought to save a good many lives each year.

AN AMBITION REALIZED.

It is hard not to feel a bit of sneaking sympathy for that 17-year-old boy in Milford, Conn., who stole a railway locomotive the other day and set out to go to the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago.

Of course, the lad didn't get there. Not being used to engines, he slammed his into a string of box cars before he had gone more than a mile or two, causing $10,000 damage and winning for himself a jail sentence of 30 days and a $50 fine.

But it's so easy to understand how he felt. A lot of us used to feel that life's greatest moment would come if only we could sit, just once, at the throttle of a locomotive. This lad, who actually put his desire into practice, at least had some get-up-and-go about him.

Given the proper sort of guidance, he ought to get somewhere, some day—and that "somewhere" won't be a cell in jail, either.

YOUTHS AND LIQUOR.

Six young men have just been sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary for life; and in their story there is an apt object lesson for a nation which seems determined to do away with its prohibition law.

The six lads, all in their late teens or thereabouts, spent an evening in a speakeasy. They got drunk, met a young girl there, followed her when she left. In a dark part of a city park they attacked her. She was killed. . . . Now the boys are going to prison for the rest of their lives.

Whatever system we finally decide upon for the control of the liquor traffic, it has got to be one which will keep liquor out of the hands of youngsters in their teens. Open saloon, speakeasy or whatever the liquor-dispensing agency of the future may be, it must be conducted under a much stricter supervision than has ever been the case in America in the past.

The rats are shooting from corners now. In other days, when prohibition had dulled the public's sense of responsibility and officials were not as stern as they should have been, the criminal had an easier time keeping out of prison.—Mayor Kelly of Chicago.

Everyday Religion

SHORT-CUTS ARE LONG
(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton)

The new books of science make us dizzy. We read Eddington, Einstein, or Jeans, and our heads are all in a whirl. Whether we are going or coming we do not know, and it does not seem to matter. Things are upside down; even the law of gravitation is bent out of shape. Alice in Wonderland is tame beside the stunts our minds have to do.

One thing is plain, the orbit of truth is so vast we can hardly detect the curve, and we had better lay low and learn.

For example, once we were taught that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points; but that was long ago. It was all very well in a flat world of angles, squares and lines, but that world is no more. It is clean out of date, apparently along with the bustle and the buggy. We live in a round world today—itsself a circle a circle in the midst of circles—and a curved line is the straightest line. It is all very queer, but if you want to go the shortest way, take the round way.

Anyway, it confirms one fact well known to all wise travelers along the road of life—that short-cuts nearly always prove the longest way home. If flatness were in the nature of things, we might safely follow straight lines and go cross-lots. But the world is round, it seems, with a tendency to bumpiness, and the wise hiker walks round the bumps, not up down and over them. All the seasoned wayfarers tell us that this is the surest way to arrive at our destination, if not our destiny.

If you have to live in the same house, or work in the same office, or serve on the same board, with a "difficult" person you learn the truth about it. The straight line is to go our way and let him go his, however far they diverge. But the curved line is to be patient, tolerant, tactful—even if he is touchy, over-positive and thin-skinned—for in that way we may arrive a little late but not alone; we have a friend with us.

Yes, tempting as short-cuts are, better tramp cheerfully along the winding road. If we want company in the tasks of fellowship the curved line is the straightest, and in marriage it is the only way.

ROCHELLE—Rochelle is to have a new city directory. Canvassing for the necessary listing of every family in Rochelle, city, beauty spots, business houses, Spring Lake, Memorial Park, and facts about the city government was started June 27th. The last city directory was published here in 1930.

Rupert Varner of the city fire department is enjoying his annual vacation and during his absence E. W. Taylor is in charge. Mr. Taylor is regularly in charge of the rural fire truck.

The City of Rochelle has purchased a new DeLuxe Plymouth sedan fully equipped including shatter proof glass to replace the 1932 model in service as a patrol car.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett Countryman expect to move their household goods from the Theodore Jagg residence on Lincoln Highway to their new home within the next few days.

Adam Krug's barbershop is to be moved from the old Masonic block on Fourth avenue to the location formerly leased for the Albright's Pharmacy in the Shookly Block. The remaining fixtures of the Albright store were removed Saturday afternoon by Macklin Bros. truck of Steward, Ill.

The late pea pack has been completed by the Midwest Canning Company here and the plants have started canning sweet corn.

Sam Nesvig has moved from North Main street to the St. Patrick Parish property on Seventh street.

Local industries and business firms have received letters and pledge cards of the National Recovery program and are arranging to cooperate in every way. Conference are being held and the changing of business according to cod stipulations arranged for.

passed recently, the relief committee of Flagg township, under the guidance of Supervisor A. L. Foght, are sending to each family receiving relief a questionnaire which must be filled out and sworn to before a notary public by the head of the family of each household and only those filing reports with the local overseer may be granted money from the state funds for relief after August 1st.

A number of cases of relief have been dropped during the summer so that the amount handled by the committee here has been considerably less than it was earlier in the year, according to Mr. Foght. Grocery requisition lists have been reduced from 85 to 45 since March. Some have found jobs, others partial employment. Several families will be assisted by the reforestation boys.

All those now getting aid will be required to fill out and swear to one of the new blanks as well as all others applying for relief State registration of relief cases should mean the abolition of any thought of a continued dole system and should make the relief situation this winter easily and fairly administered with probably proportionately less calls for assistance.

"Behind a rock I see a sight that ought to help us out all right. It is a great big turtle. It can carry us, I know."

"You are right," cried Shrimpy. "Ha, ha," laughed wee Shrimpy.

"You are so small, you cannot hurt that thing at all. Why, it could carry twice the weight of every Tynymite."

"Its shell is hard and very thick. All right now, hop on! It is no trick to stand up on a turtle, if you keep your balance right."

The Tynymites did as they were told and Windy said, "I'll grab a hold of anyone who's near me. Then I know I'll be all right."

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO FLY AROUND THE WORLD ALONE!

● ABOVE—FOR THE FIRST TIME IN HISTORY a man has flown around the world alone! Sleepless... hungry... ignoring the perils of fog and ice... storms and forced landings... Wiley Post won the admiration of the whole world with his courage, his skill, and his marvelous physical endurance in flying around the world in 7 days, 18 hours, 49½ minutes. Here he is shown as he landed at Floyd Bennett Field.

● LEFT—"I CAN'T SPEAK as a record-breaking flyer. I'm a young married woman, and my home and club work keep me going every minute. Add to that the fact that I am naturally inclined to be the nervous type, I didn't start with Camels, but later switched to them because I found they are milder and have a delightful flavor. I smoke only Camels now because I have discovered that they allow me to smoke all I want—without upsetting my nerves."

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

In an exclusive interview WILEY POST says: "Circling the globe alone in the Winnie Mae was the toughest ordeal I've ever been through! A round-the-world flyer has to be in shape to stand the extremes of physical exhaustion. He has to be ready for any weather, any emergency. His job calls for nerves in perfect condition. Smoking Camels as I have for so long, I never worry about healthy nerves—and I'm a constant smoker, too. Everybody knows that Camels are made from more expensive tobaccos, and you can certainly tell it in the mildness and good taste of Camels, and the fact that Camels never jangle the nerves!"

Thousands of smokers have switched to Camels and found that they are better for steady smoking. Your nerves and your taste will confirm this. Begin today with Camels. Know that you are smoking a milder cigarette... and that steady smoking does not interfere with healthy nerves!

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. Leaf tobaccos for cigarettes can be bought from 5¢ a pound to $1.00...but Camel pays the millions more that insure your enjoyment.

DELEGATES FROM LEE COUNTY TO ATTEND SESSION

Will Go To Peoria On Wednesday To Learn
Of Wheat Control

Farm Adviser C. E. Yale will go to Peoria Wednesday, where he will attend a district meeting called by the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, for the purpose of launching the wheat production adjustment campaign in Illinois.

Attending the meeting with the Farm Adviser will be J. E. Ma, temporary chairman of the Wheat Production Campaign Committee. Possibilities that next year there will be a wheat surplus with all its attendant evils, even if Mother Nature hits as hard next season as she did this year, will be one of the things that will be stressed at the meeting. In this connection L. J. Norton of the Department of Agricultural Economics, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, will explain the wheat situation and give the reasons for attempting to adjust production. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has reported that a year from now the country may be facing the prospect of a wheat crop of 300 million bushels in excess of the present crop unless growers all cooperate this fall and next spring to make the necessary adjustments.

To Explain Allotments
Lee County has been given an allotment of 136,976 bushels of wheat upon which the compensation payments will be based. How the allotments and benefits of individual farms will be figured will be explained by H. P. Rusk, head of the College Department of Animal Husbandry.

If all wheat growers in the county came in on the plan, the estimated total cash benefits to the county would be approximately $38,353.28. However, there are other advantages as well as disadvantages to the plan, so far as the individual grower is concerned, and these will be explained by J. C. Spiller, state leader of county farm advisers.

The organization and plan of procedure for the campaign in Lee and other counties will be explained by R. R. Humderson, acting state manager in the extension service of the College of Agriculture.

Following the return of Mr. Yale and other delegates from the district meeting at Peoria, the wheat adjustment campaign in Lee county will be pushed ahead at new speed, it was announced.

Wheat Quota for County
Lee county rates an allotment of 136,976 bushels of wheat under the agricultural adjustment administration's plan for wheat production adjustment, according to word which Farm Adviser Yale has received from R. R. Humderson, acting state manager in the extension service of the College of Agriculture. The allotment is approximately 54 per cent of the previously announced five-year average production of 253,660 bushels for the county. This is the percentage of the total national wheat crop which is consumed domestically as human food.

Upon the basis of these official allotment figures, cash compensations available to Lee County farmers for retiring acreage from

Three Mates Die For Girl's Love

Jealousy over Mrs. Jewell Hasty Bell, above, pretty 19-year-old brunet of Kennett, Mo., has cost her three successive husbands their lives. Her first husband took his life three years ago because she refused to live with him. The other day Harry Bell, her third husband, was fatally shot by her second mate, Arthur Pruett. Pruett, critically wounded in the gun duel, then killed himself.

wheat production will total approximately $38,353.28 it was estimated by Mr. Yale. The bushel rate for the compensation payments has not yet been set, but it probably will be around 28 cents a bushel, he reported. Two-thirds of the compensation payment to cooperating growers will be paid this fall, and the remainder next spring, after satisfactory proof of acreage reduction.

The total amount of the compensation payments which will come into the county in the form of ready cash will depend upon the number of wheat growers who take advantage of the opportunity to participate in the wheat program, it was pointed out.

Asso. Being Formed
Division of the county allotment among individual wheat growers will be left to a county association which is now being formed, it was announced. Each farmer's allotment will be based upon his production for the past three years, 1930, 1931 and 1932, and not upon the five-year average as in the case of the county allotment. The thing for farmers to do now is to get certificates from threshermen of the amount of wheat threshed for the years 1930, 1931 and 1932, or certificates from elevator managers for amount of wheat sold, it was suggested.

Details of the plan will be explained to all growers of the county in a series of community meetings which Mr. Yale is planning to hold. Following these community meetings dates will be set for a sign-up day when growers in each community will go to some designated place in their neighborhood and sign applications for participating in the plan.

Finally, growers who decide to take advantage of the cash payment and cooperate in the plan, sign a contract with the government to reduce their wheat acreage in 1934 and 1935. This reduction has not yet been determined, but it will not be more than 20 per cent of the farmer's average seeded acreage and may be less.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Love" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 30.

The Golden Text was, "Sing, O heavens; and be joyful, O earth; and break forth into singing. O mountains: for the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy upon his afflicted" (Isaiah 49:13).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (1 John 4:16).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "People go into ecstasies over the sense of a corporeal Jehovah, though with scarcely a spark of love in their hearts; yet God is Love, and without Love, God, immortality cannot appear" (p. 312).

Wages Increased By Two Big Companies

Kewanee, Ill., July 29—(AP)—The Kewanee works of the Walworth Company announced today a 10 per cent wage increase effective Aug. 1, totaling about $15,000 additional a month. The Kewanee Boiler Corporation and the Boss Manufacturing Company here announced similar advances in the last fortnight.

Pittsburgh, July 29—(AP)—The Aluminum Company of America today announced an 11 per cent wage and salary increase for its 18,000 employees, effective August 1. During 1931 and 1932 the company reduced wages and salaries 20 per cent. The company said in a statement that its general business has decreased "to a far greater extent" than 20 per cent during those years.

Advance News Concerning Big Scouts' Jamboree

By LESLIE A. WATT

Forty baseball games going at the same time and in one huge field will form the opening program for the Boy Scout Jamboree at Camp Pinehurst, Aug. 16-18. Each of the 108 units of scouting in the five counties comprising the Black Hawk Area Council will enter this Area Wide baseball tournament.

The forty diamonds were laid out by Edward Clark, Scout Commissioner, assisted by Harold Bradley, co-chairman of the Camp Committee, and Howard Swits, Field Executive.

An elaborate schedule has been made up so that each troop will have a chance to play baseball and also swim every day. As the teams are eliminated in the baseball tournament, other activities including handicraft, archery, nature study, and competitive events will be offered to keep them busy.

Twenty-three troops have already definitely stated that they will attend the Jamboree in full force. These troops which are out after the ribbons and medals to be awarded at the Jamboree are: Troop 2, 8, 10, 11, 13, 14, 16, 21, 22, 26, 27, and 44 all of Rockford; Troop 66, Mt. Morris; 69, Oregon; 76, Dixon; 85, Cherry Valley; 86, Durand; 89, Dixon; 91, Morrison; 94, Erie; 106, Byron; 108, Rock Falls and 126, Spring Hill.

Field Executives Adelbert Newman and Howard Swits are traveling daily throughout the Black Hawk Area contacting various troops on the Jamboree and signing them up for attendance at the three day encampment.

With the opening day of the Jamboree only two weeks away, Camp Pinehurst is becoming a beehive of activity. The swimming pool is being widened and deepened to accommodate the great influx of Scouts during the three day Camp-O-Rail. The water in the pool has been tested and approved by the Winnebago County Health Authorities. Construction work is moving along rapidly on the camp sites laid out for each of the twelve districts. The troops coming to the Jamboree will furnish their own tents, but they will find the ground cleared so that they can pitch them immediately upon their arrival.

A BOOK A DAY

STORY OF FRENCH
CHEF IS UNUSUAL
By Bruce Catton

If you have ever wondered what a French chef thinks of his job, how he got his training, what his work is like and what sort of private thoughts he has, you will find a good deal to interest you in "Kitchen Prelude," by Pierre Hamp, a well-known chef who has here set down the story of his life.

Here is a very celebrated and successful chef who objected bitterly when, as a boy, he was apprenticed to a cook, because he wanted to enter almost any sort of job rather than that one. As he grew older, he worked in exclusive and expensive restaurants and mediated on the teachings of anarchism and communists. He rose to the top in his profession—and then, because he disliked cooking, quit his job and went to a school to study in the vague hope that he might do something for humanity.

He seems, in short, to have been an unusual sort of chef, and his story is an interesting one.

Incidentally, it gives a sidelight on some of the odd notions about sanitation and cleanliness which high-class French restaurateurs entertained a few years ago.

His first job was in a kitchen where apprentices and helpers were herded nightly into a foul vermin-infested cellar, to sleep, and from which they emerged, each morning, unshowered, to work in the kitchen. And in the famous Restaurant Marguery the cooks slept nightly in the dining room, removing their bedding each morning just before the first patrons arrived.

All of this makes a book which is a good deal more entertaining than I thought it would be when I first opened it.

Landed In Jail Yard
The right front fender of Dutcher's car struck Miss Adams machine throwing it against the curb on the west side of the street in front of the Dr. H. J. McCoy residence while the Rochelle residents car piled up on the opposite side of the street the wrecked front end resting on the county jail property. Sheriff Richardson was in front of the jail at the time sprinkling the lawn and he was the first on the scene. He is said to have found a large bottle containing alcohol and several empty pop bottles in Dutcher's car.

When taken into the county jail, Dutcher gave the name of John Erwin and his companion claimed to be Sam Daniels, both giving Rochelle as their addresses. Investigation of the license plates on the Rochelle car revealed that both men had given fictitious names. Both cars were so badly damaged that they had to be hauled to a garage for repairs.

Crash West of City

Three Sterling ladies were cut and bruised about 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in an automobile wreck on the Lincoln Highway west of Dixon near the Mason farm when the concrete headwall of a culvert was snapped off by the force of the crash. The car was owned and driven by George Lassett, Rock Falls mail carrier, and the occupants were Mrs. Priscilla

Remington, Mrs. Myrtle Thompson and Miss Florence Wentzel of Sterling. The latter was the worst injured, having sustained deep cuts from broken glass from the windshield, which were shattered by the crash.

Mr. Bassett was returning to Sterling and was the third car in a line of traffic at the time of the accident. The cars were traveling at about 50 miles an hour, it was reported, when he attempted to pass the machine ahead of him. About the same time the car in front of the Bassett machine pulled out of the line of traffic and in an effort to avert a crash, Mr. Bassett drove his car into the ditch. Without stopping he regained the paving and swerved as it was righted on the cement, crashing almost head on into the head wall of the concrete culvert. The front of the car, a model A Ford sedan was badly wrecked and was later hauled to a Sterling garage.

All of the occupants were removed to the Mason farm residence where an emergency call for physicians from both Sterling and Dixon was dispatched. Two physicians, one from each of the cities arrived, and applied first aid dressing to the injured women who were later removed to their homes in Sterling. The driver escaped with only a minor shaking up. State Highway Officers Sullivan of Rochelle and Holderness of DeKalb who were returning to their respective cities from the headquarters east of Sterling directed traffic until the wrecked car was removed from the highway.

Young Sears Hires Bodyguard, Report

Chicago July 29—(AP)—The Tribune today said Wesley M. Sears, 31-year-old son of the late Richard W. Sears, one of the founders of Sears, Roebuck & Co., had engaged a bodyguard following receipt of threatening letters. He is reported to have checked out of his hotel and to have left no forwarding address.

Sears is connected with a local brokerage firm. Attaches of the hotel where he resided professed to know nothing of his whereabouts or the threats the newspaper said.

CUBS FLOUNDER BEFORE DIZZY'S STRIKEOUT FEAT

Cardinal Star Sets Down 17 Chicagoans In Nine Innings

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a busy week-end in baseball—the most eventful and exciting the major leagues have gone through this year.

Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals shattered the modern major league strikeout record with the greatest feat in that line recorded in more than 40 years, whiffing 17 of the Chicago Cubs as he won the opener of yesterday's doubleheader 8 to 2.

The New York Yankees came back to trim Washington and cut the Senators' American League lead to two games.

Pittsburgh's Pirates tore past the floundering Cubs into second place in the National Saturday, then went on to reduce the New York Giants lead to 3½ games. The Cardinals, by winning both games yesterday, also passed the Cubs, taking third by one point.

Fogers Hornsby took active charge as manager of the St. Louis Browns and saw his team run into the end of the Chicago White Sox losing streak and take a double drubbing. The Sox, who had dropped nine straight games, broke loose with a 34 hit attack, won the first game by 8 to 7 in ten innings then blasted out a 15-2 victory in the nightcap.

Dean's feat was by far the outstanding individual feat of the past two days. Not only did he record 17 strikeouts in a major league game for the first time since Tom Ramsey did it for Louisville in 1887 but he helped his catcher, Jimmy Wilson, establish a new modern mark of 18 putouts. The second game of the twin ball was an anti-climax as the Cards edged out a 6-5 victory to go a point ahead of the Cubs, who lost their sixth straight game.

Washington, after winning Saturday, found the southpaw pitching of Russell Van Atta a bit too much and went down 7 to 2. Van Atta gave only eight hits while the Yanks hit Earl Whitehill hard and wound up with a four run rally against Jack Russell and two successors in the eighth.

Pirates Closing In
The Pirates had a couple of narrow escapes against Cincinnati but came through with a pair of ninth inning rallies to extend their winning streak to seven games. They scored four in the eighth.

The Boston Braves, meanwhile, came down the league leading New York Giants by a 5-3 count as Ben Cantwell pitched steady ball and Randy Moore hit a homer to break a tied score. The Phillies beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 3-1 behind the seven hit pitching of Flint Rhem.

The Boston Red Sox walloped the Philadelphia Athletics for the third time, 8 to 3, on a five run rally against George Earnshaw in the first. But they couldn't hold sixth place, which they took Saturday, as two Chicago victories put the White Sox a point ahead.

The Athletics remained in a third place with the Cleveland Indians, whose hitting streak was checked by Tommy Bridges after five victories. With Bridges pitching eight hit ball, the Detroit Tigers hammered out a 6 to 1 victory when homers by Hank Greenberg and Peter Fox drove in four tallies.

Westland Winner Western Tourney

Memphis, Tenn., July 31—(AP)—Jack Westland took the western amateur golf championship back to Chicago today.

The imperturbable LaSalle street broken putted his eight years of competitive experience against the stouter drives of 21-year-old Rodnew Bliss of Omaha here yesterday to take a three and two victory in the finals.

Bliss, the national inter-collegiate runner up, fought gamely under the merciless Sabbath sun, but the calm, deliberate Westland pursued a relentless fight that would not be denied.

The victory brought Westland his first major American title. A member of the 1932 Walker Cup team and the former French amateur champion, his principal American achievement was in 1931 when he was runner-up to Francis Ouimet in the national amateur.

Westland succeeds to the title held last year by Gus Moreland of Dallas.

Dizzy Dean, Cardinals—Held Cubs to six hits and fanned 17 for new major league record.

Mule Haas, White Sox—Rapped Browns' pitching for eight hits in doubleheader.

Pinkie Whitney, Braves—Drove in four of Braves' five runs against Giants.

John Stone, Tigers—Led attack on Indians with three hits.

Flint Rhem, Phillies—Limited Dodgers to seven hits.

Lou Gehrig, Yanks—Headed the Yankee attack on Senators with three singles.

Tony Piet, Pirates—Made five hits, driving in four runs, against Reds.

Johnny Hodapp, Red Sox—Hit triple and single against Athletics.

Soviet Recognition Brewing?

Visit of Bernard Baruch, upper right, American financier, to Vichy, France, revived reports he will discuss unofficially American recognition of Soviet Russia with Maxim Litvinoff, lower left, Russian foreign minister, who is staying incognito at Vichy, 30 miles from Vichy. Reported presence of Leon Trotsky, center, exiled Russian leader, at Vichy served to revive rumors he may become Russian ambassador to the U. S. if this country recognizes the Soviet.

Another Good Card Prepared For Next Thursday Evening

Matchmaker Ed Hooker is booking another string of boxers for the entertainment of the fans of Dixon and vicinity for Thursday evening's show at the Crawford Maples arena. A string of boxers from the Kostos gymnasium at St. Charles, who have been appearing in many of the Chicago amateur shows this season, will come to Dixon this week to meet some strong opposition.

Sylvester Crawford, a Golden Glove winner from the St. Charles district last winter, has been matched to meet Keith Graves of Peoria in the 147 pound class as the main attraction on this week's card. Graves is a strong favorite of the fans of the Dixon A. C. shows and this will mark the first meeting of this pair. Another feature bout will be settled this evening to complete the double win.

PLUM HOLLOW WON

Plum Hollow Country Club golfers won another inter-city series Sunday afternoon when they entertained the members of the Twin City club of Sterling on the course north of the city. Dixon won by a score of 51 to 52 in the 18 hole match. C. F. Myers of this city won the low medal score turning in a card of 74 for the 18 holes.

BRITISH TENNIS TEAM CAPTURED THE DAVIS CUP

Brought France's Six-Year Custody Of Trophy To End

Auteuil, France, July 31—(AP)—The Davis Cup, most famous of all international sport trophies, had returned to Great Britain today for the first time in 21 years.

France's six-year custody of the tennis trophy Dwight W. Davis donated in 1900 came to an end on the red clay courts of Roland Garros Stadium yesterday as Frederick J. Perry, first-ranking British player, whipped young Andre Merin, French newcomer to cup competition in the fifth and decisive match of the challenge round.

Only an hour or so earlier, Henri Cochet, the tennis Atlas who had carried the French through five successive defenses of the cup they won from the United States in 1927, had beaten back father time long enough to conquer H. W. (Bunny) Austin in a bitterly fought five-set duel, 5-7, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, and squared the series at two victories apiece.

Made Valiant Fight

That shifted the burden of French shoulders but the youngsters, despite hopes to Merin's inexperienced a valiant fight against an obviously superior, rival, went down with colors flying before Perry's brilliant attack, 4-6, 8-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Thus did the British, who already had shocked the experts with their decisive victory over the United States in the interzone finals, climax a sensational Davis Cup campaign, winning the cup for the first time since 1912 and definitely ending French domination of world tennis after the tri-color had reigned unchallenged for a half dozen years.

The French defeat had been forecast on Friday when Austin and Perry made a clean sweep of the opening singles matches. Austin beat Merin, 6-3, 6-4, 6-0 and Perry whipped Cochet 8-10, 6-4, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1 in the match that really broke the back of the French defense.

Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon kept the defenders in the running with a 6-3, 8-6, 6-2 triumph over George Patrick Hughes and Harold Lee in doubles yesterday but that still left France needing to sweep both of the last day's singles matches.

Hooks and Slides

By ALAN GOULD

The Giants are rooting for the Yankees to come through again in the American League race, in the hope that if they (the Giants) sustain their drive to the top there will be a chance to renew one of baseball's keenest rivalries on a five-cent fare basis.

But the players do not talk about this openly. Any discussion of what they might do with the extra money to be derived from a world series is taboo. Ball players are among our most superstitious athletes. In the midst of a winning streak or when they are on top, they are fearful of any stray of occult influence, no matter how slight.

Should a left-handed pitcher be detected writing to the home folks in August inquiring what they might like to have in the way of world series tickets in October, he probably would be knocked out of the box in the first inning of his next start and it would serve him right.

THROW-BACK—

But this is not to say the Giants are neither proud of their achievements to date or lacking in confidence they can stay on top. The 1933 Giants are a throw-back to some of John McGraw's palmiest aggregations, except that their leader is out in the thick of the battle, personally, instead of instilling fighting spirit from the bench.

Shortstop John (Blondy) Ryan knew he was taking a big risk when he made a play on Joe Medwick of the Cardinals at second base a month ago, but Blondy made it, got his man and came up with a spike smash that kept him out of action for two weeks.

It was on his way to rejoin the club in the west that he dispatched ed his classic telegram to Terry: "They cannot beat us. En route. J. C. Ryan."

While Ryan was out of the game the Giants dropped seven tough games in a row—six of which they might have won with the young shortstop in there—but they snapped out of the slump as quickly as they struck it.

"Sure, they can knock us down, but we get right back up and let go another punch," says Terry. "Just when I think it cannot possibly be done, why someone does it. I'm having the thrill of my baseball career leading this fighting baseball outfit."

THE HOT MR. HUBBELL—

Speaking of pitching, of which the Giants have been getting plenty to offset batting weakness, Carl Hubbell has already given enough evidence to justify the contention he is the ablest flinger, right or left-handed, in either league today.

In registering seven shutouts, Hubbell already has eclipsed the best performance of this kind since Grover Cleveland Alexander was in his prime, and set a major league mark of 16 shutouts during the 1916 season. "Alex" handed out nine blanks in 1919, but no pitcher since then has done even that well. Babe Adams of the Pirates scored eight shutouts in 1921 and the high mark since then for ethereal fighting spirit from the bench.

Shortstop John (Blondy) Ryan knew he was taking a big risk when he made a play on Joe Medwick of the Cardinals at second base a month ago, but Blondy made it, got his man and came up with a spike smash that kept him out of action for two weeks.

THEY GOT DOLAN BEFORE HE COULD COMPLETE THREAT

Body Guard for Murdered "Legs" Diamond's Widow Is Killed

By DALE HARRISON

New York, July 31—(AP)—James J. Dolan can't make good that promise now.

When Mrs. Alice Shiffer Diamond, widow of the notorious "Legs" Diamond, was murdered a few weeks ago, Jimmy Dolan said: "I'll get the guys who did this. I'll get 'em."

But he never will. They got him first—got him through the back last night in a Brooklyn beer garden and then ran away into the night.

Dolan, mortally wounded, staggered in pursuit, fumbling for his gun. At the curb he fell. When police arrived he was dead.

A year ago he was struck down from behind. That time the weapon was a knife. He was in a hospital for weeks.

Dolan didn't do much talking about that. A fellow in his business—he was acting as bodyguard to Mrs. Diamond up to the time of her murder—has got to expect that sort of thing—a knife in the back, hot lead in the spine.

Murdered in Apartment
Mrs. Diamond was found murdered in her apartment a short time after she had remarked to friends that she was "getting tired of covering up for a lot of lugs," by which she apparently meant that she might start talking to the discomfited of whatever "lugs" she had in mind.

They got her first; and Dolan swore his oath of vengeance; and they got him.

He was seated with another man in the beer garden when two others entered. Dolan appeared to know them, for he spoke. The men stopped at Dolan's table and a conversation started. It was short lived. The two men suddenly backed away from the Dolan table. Dolan's back was turned. One of them drew a gun.

Into that back poured the killer's lead.

President Lauds Post's Flight

"All of us as Americans are very proud..." Such was President Roosevelt's tribute to Wiley Post when, as shown here, he received the famed flyer at the White House to congratulate him on his recent world solo flight.

Newspaper advertising is both worth and spur for trade.

The world is topsy-turvy and so far human-kind has proved incapable of setting it right. Something more original than Economics, Conferences, Memorandums, and Expensive Conversations between Representatives of different powers is necessary before the desirable end can be attained.

Loyalty to your home city and a willingness to cooperate with fellow citizens in working for its welfare is the most important factor in city building. The great cities of America have been built by people who lived in them rather than by the natural advantages of their location.

A lot of politicians are still continuing to abuse public utilities and their rates. Seems that they think it will make them exceedingly popular and help them to gain or hold office. Most people are fed up on that old political game; they have more important things to think about. The high cost of living is worrying everybody. Most everything that enters into the cost of living is sky-rocketing in price except utility rates and newspaper advertising prices.

Admittedly there is small temptation to spend money in fixing up the home or yard during such times as these but every dollar spent not only adds to your comfort, but helps to keep somebody off the unemployment list and helps to bring the time of prosperity a little nearer.

The old saying that the best way to keep peace is to prepare for war has not as yet been proved false.

We have a new law now to protect "suckers" from unscrupulous promoters who issue questionable investments. The investors who gave away good money for bad bonds in the boom years no doubt feel that the legislation comes much too late to do them any good.

It has been estimated that the average cost of running an auto is $229 a year, of which $101 goes for gasoline.

KERNER EXPECTS TO REOPEN SUIT SMALL-STERLING

Democratic Attorney General Plans To Renew Old Legal Battle

Springfield, Ill., July 31—(AP)—Attorney General Otto Kerner plans to reopen the interest suits against two former state treasurers, Len Small, Kankakee, twice governor, and Fred Sterling, Rockford, three times Lieut. Gov.

The new suits will probably be filed in Cook County sometime in August.

The Attorney General will seek to have set aside the settlement of the old suit against Small whereby his alleged obligations to the state were discharged by payment of $650,000.

Ryan Overlooked
Suit against Sterling and Andrew Russell, Jacksonville, also a former treasurer, were dismissed on motion of former Attorney General Oscar Carlson last November. Kerner does not plan to reopen the suit against Russell or a similar one against William Ryan, Jr., Danville, also a former treasurer. Records on these two cases have been lost, it was said.

During his campaign Kerner promised to reopen the suits. Small, Sterling and Russell are Republicans, Ryan is a Democrat.

Details of the suits proposed against Small and Sterling have not been revealed.

Charles W. Hadley, Wheaton, an Assistant Attorney General during the incumbency of Carlstrom, has been retained by Kerner to handle the new suits.

New Ground Rules At Dixon Country Club Announced Today

Out of bounds on hole number four on left is line of trees (middle) and not gravel road. Out of bounds east of number four green is east wheel track indicated by line of stakes.

If ball is in shrubbery to the left of number nine and unplayable, lay out with penalty of one stroke. If ball is in ditch between three and seven it may be lifted with penalty of one stroke but must be dropped in rough and not in fairway. Drop ball not nearer hole. Ball near broken tile may be moved without penalty.

Large trees are hazards and ball near one must be played from his lie, but ball may be moved two club lengths from small newly planted trees without penalty.

Ball lodged in long grass on the steep bank east of number nine green may be moved down on to green without penalty. ### BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELINOR STAFFORD, 26, falls in love with BARRETT COLVIN, 35, but her jealous, scheming mother, LIDA STAFFORD, breaks up the romance by convincing Barrett that Elinor is a heartless flirt.

When Elinor's aunt, wealthy MISS ELLA SEXTON, dies she leaves her fortune to Barrett. Then drunken VANCE CARTER shoots BENTWELL STAFFORD.

Elinor's father, Barrett tells Elinor that if she will marry him and live in his home as a guest for a year he will give her the entire Sexton fortune to divide among her relatives. Knowing the money may save her father's life, Elinor agrees.

The marriage takes place. Barrett, in spite of the lies Lida told him, finds himself more in love with Elinor than ever. Barrett has a ward, nine-year-old GERARD MOORE, who is the son of his half-sister, MARCIA RADNOR. Barrett has promised Marcia never to reveal the boy's true story. Lida Stafford discovers the child's existence and concludes he is Barrett's son.

Elinor's father dies. Barrett takes her to Cuba and the trip is a happy one. After their return Lida, angry, tells Elinor about Barrett's plan to marry her. Barrett about this. Because of his promise to Marcia he can not explain. Elinor considers divorce but decides against it. Barrett decides to join an expedition to South America.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLIII
ELINOR could not see Barrett's eyes as he spoke. "I thought," he said wearily, "that it might be better for me to go away for a while. I thought perhaps you'd rather not see me often."

"This trip to South America," she said hesitatingly, "is it work that interests you?"

"It would have—once," he replied. Elinor rose then and started toward the door but he halted her.

"Elinor!" Barrett said brokenly. She paused without answering.

"Don't hate me more than you have to, will you? I'm sorry I can't explain it all to you. I'm only trying to do the right thing."

"I don't hate you, Barrett," she assured him, "but I just can't—talk about it. I'm trying to see your side. Perhaps with time I'll be more reasonable. I hope so. I'll try to be! Just now—"

"Oh, I know!" he said darkly. He was beside her and for a moment, with a harsh little murmur, he caught her in his arms, holding her close. She did not try to draw away, wanting to feel his arms about her, yet unable to yield, to let him know the emotion she felt.

When his arms dropped she said, "Barrett—"

"How long will you be gone?" There was fright in her voice and loneliness.

"FOUR or five months, I suppose," he answered. "Unless you should send word for me to come."

Henry Ford, 70, Is In Best Of Health

Detroit, July 31—(AP)—Henry Ford has passed his seventieth milestone, in excellent health and so engrossed with many interests that he has no time to think of such things as retiring.

Once every seven years—when his birthday falls on Sunday—he observes the occasion in some manner other than usual work-a-day routine. That was the case yesterday, but there was no particular observance of the day, which was spent quietly with his family and a few close friends at the Ford home, "Fairlane."

Associates said he had recovered fully from the illness which sent him to a hospital last year and that, except for a cold, or slight throat irritation, his health was unusually good.

The code adopted by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce under the National Recovery Act was expected to get some of Mr. Ford's attention today. Although not a member of the N. A. C. C., the Ford Company was represented at the code conferences but has not signed the document.

come back and I don't suppose there's any hope of that."

"I don't know. I don't think I even understand myself. I don't know what is the matter with me or why I feel the way I do. Of course I've always known there was this sort of thing in the world. All my life I've seen deceit—"

"And it has made you hate it even more than you would normally," he said. "I understand that. Well," he made an unsuccessful attempt at cheerfulness, "we'll see about a place in the country. What sort of place do you think you would like?"

"I don't care. Whatever you think best—"

"Before I start we'll drive around a bit and see what can be found."

So he was going, Elinor realized. He really was going away to leave her for months and months. The thing was settled, a certainty.

"Do you suppose," she faltered, flushing, "that the little boy will like me?"

Barrett smiled his first genuine smile. "I think he may!" he said with a rising inflection that made her know he was teasing. Quickly he stooped and kissed her hair. He said almost harshly, "Now run along!"

She was gone then. Alone Barrett paced the room. Back and forth. Back and forth. He tried to get it all straight in his own mind, thinking about Elinor, about Marcia, about the trip to South America and the miles and miles of land and water there would be between Elinor and him once he was on his way. How dreary and uninteresting the whole trip seemed!

It was Bessie Thorpe who discovered the country house for Elinor. Bessie declared as soon as she had heard their plans that she knew "just the place." The dwelling she had in mind was not far from the Thorpes' new home. It stood on a hillside, well back from the road. Bessie pointed out that she and Elinor would be able to spend long afternoons together and that Sexton and the little boy could share play hours.

"I'd love to be near you, Aunt Bessie," Elinor said. Her aunt said that the girl was fighting to keep back her tears.

"There's something very odd about all this," Bessie reported to Jim that evening as they sat alone on the porch. It was still light and the boys were playing tennis. Now and again a shout floated to them from the court.

"Um—" said Jim. He twisted the cigar in his mouth and frowned.

"You see, Jim, I don't for a moment believe that things are—well, the way they seem. But Elinor does and that's the pitiable part of it. Barrett came in before I left this afternoon and he looks dreadful. I'm sure that seeing Elinor so unhappy hurts him worse than anything else about the affair. Her misery is more to him than his own."

"Well, you and I can understand that," Jim said slowly.

"Yes, we can. I almost hope he will go away."

"Then I'll see about the lease tomorrow," he promised. "You'll be able to move in whenever you like."

"I'd like to come soon. I think with Bessie's help I can get everything that's necessary ordered within a week."

He realized that would mean that if he made the trip to South America he would have a few weeks alone in the New York house. A few weeks during which he, in his room would seem to hear her moving in hers.

"Don't you think after all," he said abruptly (for it was not easy to speak of Gerald), "that I'd best pack the youngster off to some summer camp?"

"Don't you think," she asked hotly in turn, "that it's only decent—not to hide him?"

MATTERN LOST FIVE DAYS IN SIBERIAN WILD

Able To Account For Only
14 Of 19 Days He Was Unreported

New York, July 31—(AP)—Grinning Jimmie Matern did not look like a man back from the dead but he was still a bit puzzled and more than a bit puzzled.

Puzzled over those five lost days that dropped right out of his life without leaving a trace of them in a little book he is carrying around in his pocket.

The book is a diary, recording what happened to him when he was lost 19 days in the Siberian wilds after the plane in which he was trying to break the round-the-world record smashed itself into junk June 14.

"I get scared," he said, "every time I read some of the notes I put down in that diary. I haven't scratched the surface yet on telling about my experiences."

As for those lost days, he guesses they never will be recovered. Nineteen days he was in the wilderness, injured and facing starvation, while the world believed him dead. He kept notes carefully, but when rescued only 14 days were recorded in the diary.

Don't Know What Occurred

"I don't know what happened to those other five days," he said. "But then, the sun just rose and set around your head and you never knew where you were at."

Perhaps he "passed out," he said, but he couldn't be sure.

Matern, who set out to fly the world in less than eight days, came home yesterday, 57 days after the takeoff but glad to be back. He arrived in a plane that was offered him in Alaska after a Soviet plane flew him from Anadyr to Nome.

He wore high Russian boots and limped from a leg injury he suffered when he crashed in Siberia. After the official city reception today, he will make plans to fly to the Century of Progress exposition at Chicago and to his home town, San Angelo Texas.

Blamed Poor Oil

He said poor "russian oil" that wouldn't flow was to blame for his smashup. From the scene of the crash Matern with only a small supply of biscuits and chocolate, started to hobble the few miles to the Anadyr river. It took him eight days. At the river, he built himself a hut and waited until June 29, when native fishermen found him.

Meanwhile, during the long wait, he had a narrow escape from death by fire. He had built a raft, lashing driftwood together. It capsized and while he was drying off at a small fire, his oilsoaked clothing ignited.

"I saved myself that time by jumping into the river," the flier said.

Gave Him Drugs

Young O'Connell said that from time to time his captors gave him white pills of some kind and that they made him perspire and feel drowsy. A physician who examined him said that there was no indication that he had been "doped" and that the pills may have been sedatives.

"I received food regularly," O'Connell said, "but did not eat much. The chief reason was that it consisted mostly of sandwiches. They became very tiresome as a steady diet."

Describing his abduction he said he was struck over the head just as he was about to alight from his automobile on the morning of July 7.

"There was no warning," he said, "several men surrounded me. I had an impression that there were four or five of them, and that one of them pressed a gun into my back. They wore masks, I believe, before I could turn about or defend myself, in fact. Before I could make up my mind whether it was an attempted holdup, I felt a heavy blow on the back of my head."

"I do not know how long we rode after the attack, in fact, nothing was very clear until I found myself in a bedroom, either of a flat or an apartment. The quarters seemed to be very good. At least it was not a basement."

He said he was not ill treated but that he had no chance for escape. "I spent the entire three weeks in that bedroom, on a bed," he said. "I occasionally heard voices in another room, but I do not believe I could identify any of them."

In New York City

"My impression that I was in New York City was gathered largely from the sound of the traffic. Later, when I was released, I knew of course, that I had been in New York or somewhere very near that city."

"At no time did the kidnapers act in an abusive manner. They shaved me twice while I was being held."

"On Saturday night, after dark, I was taken from the room and put into an automobile. We rode for perhaps an hour. I could not say whether this was to waste time or because we had to travel a considerable distance.

"Finally I was let out of the car and got into the one which brought me to Albany. It is good to be home."

SOLUTION PROMISED

By WALTER T. BROWN

Albany, N. Y., July 31—(AP)—A solution of the O'Connell kidnaping was promised, "in short order" today.

John J. O'Connell, Jr., 24-year-old National Guard Lieutenant, was released by his abductors early Sunday after the payment of a $40,000 ransom. He was kidnaped July 7, and the original ransom demand was a quarter of a million dollars.

With the youth safely home, swift action was expected by the city, New York City and Federal detectives at work on the case. Two Albany men whose names are withheld, already are being detained for questioning.

Young O'Connell, the nephew of Edward J. and Daniel P. O'Connell, leaders in up state Democratic circles, was thrust from an automobile by his captors in East 22nd Street (the Bronx) about 1 o'clock Sunday morning. Blindfolded, he had been driven around several blocks before he was turned out of the car. A few minutes later O'Connell was picked up by Louis Snyder, an Albany attorney, who had been drawn into the negotiations by Manny Strel, the intermediary, in the case.

Snyder arrived at the Heidelberg mountain camp of Dan O'Connell 30 miles from Albany at 4 A. M. exhausted and nervous. Young O'Connell tumbled into the arms of his uncle and his father, John J. Sr., (Solly). His anguished mother did not reach the camp until daylight. The boy by that time had shaved off a week's growth of beard and had slept for a couple of hours. A physician found the youth in good health but suffering from shock and nervous exhaustion. O'Connell said he was well treated by his captors who secreted him in a well furnished apartment.

Money Was Marked

The ransom money which Dan O'Connell turned over to Strel Friday evening had been cunningly marked. The kidnapers, however, suspicious that such a ruse would be attempted demanded new money.

It is believed that through a bank exchange the same money was returned to the gang. Officials are hopeful that the bills in small denominations can be traced.

Originally the gang demanded a ransom of $250,000. They reduced that to $175,000 and $100,000. Two notes last week warned the family that unless the demand was met the boy would be starved. Most of the notes carried O'Connell's signature. Dan O'Connell maintained the family could raise only $40,000.

Strel, a young radio shop operator who effected the captive's release, was one of a list of 34 intermediaries the O'Connells suggested upon the orders of the abductors. Three lists were offered and Strel's name was on the last.

The O'Connells have come into political prominence in the past 13 years. They overthrew the remnants of the William Barnes' Republican machine and steadily since then tightened a political hold on the county.

Last year the O'Connell organization worked with Tammany to oppose President Roosevelt's nomination at Chicago. They pushed the Albany mayor, John Boyd Thacher, for the gubernatorial nomination but Roosevelt and Al Smith joined hands to name Governor Lehman as the head of the ticket.

PLOWIN' UNDER!

'Destroy part of your cotton crop,' says the government, 'and we'll pay you for what you cut down and you'll get more money for what's left to sell' . . . So Dixie's turnin' under cotton, Jake—cuttin' down them pretty bolls which maybe the weevils would have got anyway . . . It's the depression weevils we're fightin' now, and everybody's doin' his share . . . So plough down, you lily-colored, black-hearted imp of stubbornness; Uncle Sam's in a hurry! And remember, if I get more money for the cotton, you get more oats this fall . . .

gress which will be convened in January.

But the concern of the House over this question goes deeper than these investigations. Hatton Sumners, chairman of the Judiciary committee of the House, rated one of the authorities in Congress on constitutional law, voiced this concern toward the end of the session, just after he had conducted the unsuccessful prosecution of Judge Louderback before the Senate.

"It is probably true," said Sumners on the floor of the House, "whatever the cause, that the federal judiciary today, in point of public confidence, holds the lowest position it has held since the organization of the government."

A Behavior Test?

"I would say this much," he continued. "If we could get rid of, say, about a dozen federal judges in this country . . . the federal judges, as a class, would stand high and the people would have confidence in them."

Referring to the fact that federal judges are appointed "during good behavior," the chairman of the Judiciary committee, to whose committee alleged misconduct on the part of federal judges is first submitted, voiced the belief that it was within the power of Congress to set up a tribunal to try the issue of "good behavior."

All of which raises this question: Does Sumners contemplate a disciplinary tribunal through the judges themselves—a court of judges, so to speak—or does he favor a tribunal set up outside the judiciary?

Mother Went Along With Posse Hoping To Save Bloodshed

Mountainair N. M., July 31—(AP)—A mother, with love, not malice, in her heart, rode with a posse which sought her son, accused of slaying a Deputy Sheriff.

Mrs. A. B. Layman told Wallace Crawford, chief of the posse, she could induce the son, Jack Layman, to surrender. She asked that she be permitted to do this to avoid bloodshed. Her request was granted but the search for the ex-convict was futile.

All day Sunday the posse searched the mountain country of central New Mexico, which abounds in canyons and abandoned mine shafts in which the alleged slayer of William Meador might hide. The mother tried toward the end of the day and went to the home of a son-in-law here to rest.

She will not accompany possemen again. Told that her son apparently was wounded in the calf of the right leg and was limping badly, she averred that he never would be found alive.

Two uncles of the slain deputy, who was fatally wounded as he attempted to arrest layman on an assault charge Friday, are here to aid in the search. Both are Los Angeles police officers. Bruce Clark is a captain of the West Los Angeles detective bureau and Detective Lieutenant W. J. Clark is attached to the central homicide squad.
